Library News

After a busy winter behind the scenes here at the library, we're looking forward to Spring and brighter days ahead! This edition of Library Bytes includes an important update on our inter-library loan process for articles, see below, which now requires a library account.

2026 is also the National Year of Reading, promoting reading for pleasure for all ages. As well as clinical texts, we stock a range of fiction and non-fiction on different subjects. Why not drop by the LE&D Hub and pick up your next read?

Register for a library account

You now need to be registered with the library to request journal articles on inter-library loan. You can register easily online at the link or QR code below, or drop by the library to complete a paper form.

Anatomy.tv

In Anatomy.tv, you can:

- Explore anatomical models using the 3D Atlas
- Browse by clinical specialty
- View clinical images
- Watch interactive animations

Contact the library for a demo!

Access Anatomy.tv at the link below and sign in using your Athens account.

Study support

Whether you're starting a new course or revising for exams, the library provides resources, support, and quiet space for study. We stock a range of exam textbooks and have laptops available for educational purposes (subject to availability).

We can also provide training on study and research skills - contact us to arrange a session!

Library website ✕

The library website has a new look! We've been updating our pages to make them easier to use, more accessible, and ensure all the information is relevant and up-to-date.

Visit the website to find out more about the library services and evidence resources available, and view toolkits of evidence-based information for different specialties, staff groups, conditions, and topics.
